INSURING ACCESS

Installing a product that will grow with the firm

By Scott Lindley

President, Farpointe Data, Inc.

As seen on Security-Today.com.

In the decade that First Service Insurance (FSI) has conducted business in Roseville, Calif., it has provided contractors with specialized property and casualty insurance products focused on general liability, workers compensation, business auto and bonding/surety. Over the past five years, FSI has led by integrating cutting-edge digital and paperless technologies into its operation to improve productivity and service.

"The company wanted to establish an effective and flexible access control system for our personnel and tenants while safeguarding our sensitive client information and ensuring that appropriate levels of physical and logical security were in place," said Ed Barr, partner and vice president of FSI.
