Some people still think generative AI is just good for creating poetry and pictures—well, someone should tell that to the tech giants who dumped nearly $150 billion into AI in the first half of 2024 alone, according to Forbes. Meanwhile, predictions are rolling in that AI will have a multi-trillion-dollar economic impact around the globe, as reported by IOFund.

Industry experts say that the real payoff on all this investment will come from a new breakthrough known as AI Agents.
